Response

We have responded to each point individually below.

Could you please confirm how many panel members were involved throughout the application process?

2 for shortlisting, 3 for interview.

Could you please confirm how many internal candidates applied for the role?

Could you please confirm whether any internal candidates were invited to the interview stage? If yes, how many?

Could you also confirm whether all the internal candidates were asked to complete the additional personal statement and submission/resubmission of their CV's?

Yes. All internal applicants were invited to submit a supporting statement to be reviewed alongside experience. ## Information withheld – Section 40(2)

Some of the information you have requested has been withheld in accordance with Section 40(2). This exempts information if it is personal data belonging to an individual other than the requester and it satisfies one of the conditions listed in the legislation.

We find that the condition at section 40(3A)(a) applies in this instance: that disclosure would breach one of the data protection principles. The principles are outlined in the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) with the relevant principle on this occasion being the first principle as provided by Article 5(1): that personal data shall be processed lawfully, fairly and in a transparent manner.

We do not consider that disclosing this information into the public domain is necessary or justified. There is no strong legitimate interest that would override the prejudice to the rights and freedoms of the relevant data subjects. We have therefore taken the decision that disclosing this information would be unlawful, triggering the exemption at section 40(2) of the FOIA.

Although the withheld information may not enable every member of the general public to identify individuals, the ICO's draft anonymisation guidance notes that "You should also consider whether the specific knowledge of others, such as doctors, family members, friends and colleagues could be sufficient additional information that may allow inferences to be drawn."

Only 10 applicants were shortlisted for the role your request refers to. While we hold information about their qualifications, whether or not they were offered the position, declared a disability, were external or internal etc., this information is in some cases specific to a very small number of candidates. Those with knowledge of this particular recruitment campaign (including applicants) or of the candidates (such as their family, friends, colleagues and current employers) may be able to use the requested details in conjunction with other information to identify individuals.

Our position is that candidates would have a strong expectation that details relating to their application would be held in confidence and would only be used in connection with the recruitment process where relevant. They were not notified about processing for any purpose other than for the job application itself.

Advice and assistance

Please note that while we can consider subject access requests from candidates for their own personal data in relation to recruitment campaigns, requests for details relating to the applications of other candidates may involve exempt information, particularly if this relates to details that could be used to identify individuals.

Also, in relation to your interest in protected characteristics and recruitment, we publish some information about this area in our annual reports.

This concludes our response to your request.
